Policy Coverage	Discrimination and all forms of harassment are unlawful under federal, state and territory law. People engaging in harassment can have legal action taken against them under these laws. In some cases, legal action can also be taken against the organisation for which they work or represent. For this reason, the Club has a legal responsibility to ensure that discrimination or harassment does not occur in the course of any of our activities. The law is always the minimum standard for behaviour within the Club and therefore any criminal offence will be reported to the appropriate authorities.

Discrimination

It is unlawful to treat anyone unfairly on the basis of various attributes or personal characteristics in key areas of public life.

A member must not treat a person less favorably than another person on the basis of an attribute (such as race, sex, age, marital status, sexuality, pregnancy or intellectual or physical impairment) than someone else without that attribute in the same or similar circumstances.

Indirect discrimination is also unlawful. This means that a member cannot impose a requirement, condition or practice that is the same for everyone, but which has an unequal or disproportionate effect or result on particular groups. Unless this type of requirement is reasonable in all the circumstance it is likely to be indirect discrimination, even if there was never any intention to discriminate.

Harassment

Harassment can take many forms but can generally be defined as unwelcome verbal or written comments, conduct, or gestures directed toward an individual or group of individuals that the harasser knows, or should reasonably be expected to know, is insulting, intimidating, humiliating, malicious, degrading or offensive.

Sexual harassment is behaviour that has a sexual element that is unwelcome and could reasonably be expected, in the circumstances in which it occurs, to offend, humiliate or intimidate the person or people at whom it is directed.

A member must not engage in any form of harassment, including:

- Written, verbal or physical abused or threats;
- unwelcome physical contact;
- the display of offensive materials;
- promises or threats in return for sexual favours;
- unwelcome sexual comments, jokes or propositions;
- homophobic comments or behaviours; or
- jokes or comments directed at a person's body, looks, age, race, disability, sexuality, marital status or pregnancy.

Intimate Relations

The federation takes the view that intimate sexual relationships between coaches and athletes, while not necessarily constituting unlawful harassment, can have harmful effects on the individual athlete involved, on other athletes and coaches, and on the sport's public image.

Because there is always a risk that the relative power of the coach has been a factor in the development of such relationships, the club takes the position that such relationships should be avoided by coaches working at all levels.

Should a sexual relationship develop between an athlete and a coach, KSTP will investigate whether any action against the coach is necessary. If the club determines that the sexual relationship is inappropriate, action may be taken to terminate the coaching relationship with the athlete. Action may include transfer of the coach or, if this is not feasible, a request for resignation or dismissal from employment or coaching duties. In the event that an athlete attempts to initiate an intimate sexual relationship, the coach must take personal responsibility for discouraging such approaches, explaining the ethical basis for such action.

	The law is always the minimum standard for behaviour within the club and therefore sex with a minor, of either the same or the opposite sex, is a criminal offence and will be reported to the appropriate authorities. Victimisation A member must not subject any person to victimisation. These bodies offer both mediation and arbitration services for sport-related disputes. This avenue is internal to the sporting industry, but external to the organisation or specific sport of the complainant. (Whether these bodies can compel parties to attend dispute resolution proceedings, or whether they must rely on the parties agreeing to 'come to the party' will depend on whether arbitration/mediation clauses exist in relevant contracts or association documents).
